Inscape Purchases Falconer Manufacturing Facility

Holland Landing, Ontario, February 25, 2010 – Inscape Corporation, leading designer, manufacturer and distributor of innovative workplace solutions, announced the purchase of its manufacturing facility in Falconer, New York. Inscape had been leasing the facility for its architectural products division since 2001.

Inscape's architectural products offer a truly integrated wall solution that provides privacy, aesthetics and a high degree of flexibility. Designed with the environment in mind, our architectural products are reconfigurable and are 85% recyclable at the end of use. Inscape walls have been the product of choice for many large organizations seeking high quality, high value solutions.

The Falconer, New York facility was constructed to specific movable wall manufacturing requirements on a brownfield industrial redevelopment site. Once declared a hazardous waste site, the property was reclaimed and repurposed after it lay dormant for many years.

"The purchase of our architectural products manufacturing facility confirms our commitment to growing this division," says Kent Smallwood, CFO of Inscape Corporation and General Manager of the Architectural Interiors Division. "The location of the facility on a brownfield site supports Inscape's ongoing commitment to environmental responsibility and matches well with customers who want to choose a more sustainable solution for interior wall construction."
